The Easter Egg Hunt is Saturday, March 31, at 10 am.

March…the month the rest of New England anticipates spring and New Hampshire anticipates anticipating spring in April. So, enjoy getting some reading done before spring arrives and we don’t have time to read! You can read books on gardening, hiking, romance, biography, mystery, and adventure; there are books in the library on everything — including St. Patrick’s Day and Easter.

On March 10 at 10 am, come to a “Meet Your Candidates” event at the library. Candidates running for elected office will be available to discuss any questions you have. Coffee and treats will be offered.

Story Time will meet on Wednesday mornings at 9:30. On March 7, we will enjoy a “March of the Penguins,” reading fiction and non-fiction stories, a penguin craft, and plenty of time to play games. Green shamrocks and learning a little about Ireland are on the schedule for March 14. On March 21, we will have a special delivery as we talk about sending and receiving mail and working at the post office. Hop to it! Join us for a spring or Easter craft and story on March 28. Refreshments are served. And the Easter Egg Hunt is March 31, 10 am.

Book Buddies meet on Tuesdays after school at 3:30. This month we will learn more about winter animals and about the mail process. The children are very knowledgeable and engage in some great discussions. We will have a guest musician one week with some Irish songs to enjoy. Legos, chess, and a few new games each week are offered.

The library will no longer be accepting donations of books. Storage space is full!

FDPL Presents Talk on the History Behind Madama Butterfly

Come take a closer look at the Portsmouth Peace Treaty and its historical connections with the 1904-1906 premieres of Puccini’s Madama Butterfly opera and the public affairs efforts of Kentaro Kaneko, a frequent visitor to the Dublin home of Joseph Lindon Smith and his wife Corinna.

The speaker will be Charles B. Doleac, author of An Uncommon Commitment to Peace: Portsmouth Peace Treaty 1905. He will present a program describing the efforts of all sides, including those of NH citizens who hosted the event, and participants, that resulted in the Portsmouth Peace Treaty — in the context of Puccini’s opera, Madama Butterfly, which Raylynmor Opera will present at the Peterborough Players on March 9 and 11.

The event is free and open to the public. A question and answer session will follow the illustrated talk.

Residents can also register to vote on Town Election Day, March 13, on the top floor of the Dublin Town Hall. Polls open at 8 am and close at 7 pm. Please remember to bring your photo identification with you. If you have not yet registered to vote, you can do so at the polls on Election Day. Please bring proof of your Dublin address if you need to register to vote, along with your photo ID. (On Monday, March 12, the Town Clerk’s office will be open from 9 am to 5 pm only. This is the last day to return Absentee Ballots filed in person. Town Clerk/Tax Collector’s office is closed on Election Day, Tuesday, March 13.)

If you will not be able to get to the polling place on voting day, you may be eligible to vote by absentee ballot. Ballots are available now at the Town Clerk’s office.

DCS News

BY NICOLE PEASE

February brought some wonderful activities to DCS! With the help of Dublin resident David Dewitt, and Michele Brezovec from SMS, 12 eighth-grade students spent two days at DCS working with all students to learn TinkerCad. Students engineered objects through this online program to be printed on a 3D printer. The DCS students thoroughly enjoyed learning from the older students and we look forward to having them back for a visit this spring. This was especially great as two of the students are graduates of DCS.

In honor of Valentine’s Day, DCS students created more than 200 valentine cards to be delivered to Summerhill and Pheasantwood Nursing Homes. Cards were also made for some of our community groups. This year, February 14 also brought the 100th day celebration, which made the day even more special. We finished the week with Mary Loftis teaching students about Eric Carle through the FACTS (Famous Artists Come To School) program. The month ended with a school-wide Science Night at which students shared their learning with their parents!

As March arrives, we are looking forward to spring and hope it brings warmth after the cold winter! Staff has been busy planning for a school-wide study of Egypt. This work will also bring Arts Enrichment to DCS to help with the creation of projects to bring this learning to life. The annual Movie Night is postponed to March 23 at 5:30 pm. It is such a treat to have families come together to enjoy pizza, popcorn, and a movie. Thanks to the DCS PTO for making this happen.

Students will be busy during the end of the month honing their skills for the DCS Talent Show. We have a wonderfully talented group of students.

Kindergarteners are wanted! If you know of a child who will be 5 years old before August 25, please have their family contact our school. Please don’t forget to vote on March 13 and to participate in Town Meeting on March 17.

NICOLE PEASE is Principal of Dublin Consolidated School.
Update from the School Board
BY BERND FOECKING

I was very happy to see the strong Dublin community contingent at the Deliberative Session held on February 6. Our community spoke up and contributed to an interesting and positive discussion on some important decisions.

Especially important seems Petition Article 10. A group of DCS PTO members, interested citizens, and I met to discuss Article 10. Please read our analysis and recommendation below:

Article 10 proposes to change the wording in the collective bargaining agreement of the ConVal District from all towns “shall maintain” to “may maintain” an elementary school at the “discretion of the School Board” if these schools have “less than 50 students, who reside in that town.” Under the current Articles of Agreement changes require a 2/3-majority vote of all towns in the district, and cannot be made at the discretion of the School Board. This protection of the agreement was established to give the District’s voters control.

Closing an elementary school could have ramifications that have not been fully addressed: the effect on property taxes, the effect on transportation and where students attend school, the influx of students from year to year, re-opening a closed school, the costs associated with closing a school and still maintaining the property, and what the loss of a school would mean to the affected community.

The district is currently working to determine the costs per school building. Only after having these real numbers is the School Board going to begin a more formalized discussion on what the costs will be to close a school, consolidate, or reconfigure our District’s schools.

Please refer for the School Board website for more information to make an informed decision.

BERND FOECKING (bfoecking@conval.edu) is Dublin’s School Board Representative to SAU1.

New Person on Advocate Staff

A year and a half ago Denise Frankoff moved to Dublin from Washington, DC, with her husband and two Springer Spaniels. In looking for a place to retire they fell in love with the natural beauty and serenity of the Monadnock Region and the welcoming spirit of the Dublin community.

When Denise read the Advocate online she realized this was the type of community she wanted to live in.

Denise is very excited to join the Advocate team. As part of the team, she brings strong spoken and written communication skills, is organized and dedicated to the Advocate’s mission of encouraging and strengthening the Dublin community.

DHS Potluck Supper: One-Room Schools

The Dublin Historical Society will hold its annual potluck supper at 6 pm on Friday, March 9, at the Dublin Community Church, 1125 Main Street.

The speaker will be Steve Taylor presenting “New Hampshire’s One-Room Rural Schools: The Romance and the Reality,” courtesy of a New Hampshire Humanities grant called “Humanities To Go.” Taylor will explore the lasting legacies of the one-room school and touch on issues that still prevail today.

Dublin’s own DHS Museum is housed in an 1841 example of such a schoolhouse, the structure of which remains largely unchanged. Serving District #1, it was one of ten such schoolhouses built in Dublin in the mid-nineteenth century, replacing earlier structures, some built as early as the 1780s.

All are welcome to attend this free event. The price of admission is simply a dish to share – main course, side dish, salad or dessert. DHS will provide beverages. Those wishing to attend only the program are welcome to arrive around 7 pm.

Come join us for an enjoyable evening of delicious food, great company, and an interesting program. In case of snow, please call 563-8545 for a recorded message. If postponed, the event will be held on Friday, March 16, same time, and place.

The Dublin Advocate
Report from the Planning Board

BY BRUCE SIMPSON

In last month’s Advocate, I discussed the Planning Board’s proposed amendment to the wetlands ordinance. This month I address our proposed amendment to the sign ordinance.

The main reason for the change is the need to comply with a 2015 U.S. Supreme Court case, Reed v. Town of Gilbert, which upheld a church’s challenge of a town ordinance that placed stricter limits on the size and placement of signs advertising religious services than it did on signs displaying other types of messages. The Court decided that such ‘content-based’ regulation of signage was a violation of the church’s free speech rights under the First Amendment, and that government restriction on signage had to be ‘content-neutral’.

In response to this decision, municipalities across America have been amending their sign ordinances. Our current ordinance has special rules for political signs, civic and institutional signs, real estate signs, business signs, property maintenance signs, etc. These different categories would be eliminated, and restrictions will be based only on content-neutral criteria such as size, location, and lighting.

We also made some other minor changes: increasing the amount of time special event signs can be up, allowing off-site real estate signs, and allowing slightly larger temporary signs, all in response to concerns from citizens and in acknowledgement of the fact the current rules were not being enforced.

The exact language of both amendments and their place in the ordinance can be reviewed at the Town Hall or on the Planning Board page of the town website (www.townofdublin.org).

BRUCE SIMPSON is chair of the Planning Board.

Correction: In the February issue, the title in Tom Blodgett’s advertisement on p. 8 should have read Tax Deferred Growth. The Advocate regrets the error.

Remembering Lorrie Hanson

BY MARY LOFTIS

Eric Hanson wrote in his mother Lorrie’s obituary, “She enjoyed her life.”

This was evident in the 20 years that I knew her: Lorrie relished her family and friends and shared with them her love of the natural world and her interest in literature (especially poetry) and current events. Her “default” attitude was one of grace and appreciation.

Lorrie’s email moniker was ‘dublinbird’ and during her later years she was herself like a little bird in physique: fragile and delicate. However, within that small person was a discerning brain and a mischievous sense of humor. She was curious and analytical. She loved discussing a wide range of books at the Dublin Community Church’s weekly reading group, and the conversations would go on as I drove her the short distance back and forth to her home on Main Street. In addition, she would often clip out articles related to our discussions from The New York Times, The New Yorker, and The Atlantic.

Lorrie loved the perennial gardens and shrubs surrounding her house. In the spring, she always encouraged me to pick Lily of the Valley and Lilac. Last summer, she was frustrated at being unable to weed a garden bed on the side of her house. Although ill, she came out and chatted with me while I weeded – and clearly gained satisfaction from this little tidying-up project.

Until the very end of her life, Lorrie sat at her dining room table and looked out the window at the trees in her yard and the birds at her feeder – a little Dublin bird among the wild ones.

DS’ Head at the Nordic Masters World Cup

In January 2018, Dublin School’s Head of School Brad Bates competed in Minneapolis at the Nordic Masters World Championships, which is only held once every ten years in the U.S. This year’s location gave Brad an opportunity to fulfill a long-term goal and to visit Dublin School alumni in the upper mid-west.

Racing in the 45- to 49-year-old age bracket, Brad faced off against skiers from ten different countries (Russia, France, Italy, Finland, Norway, Sweden, Canada, Germany, Poland, and Brazil). He competed in a 30-kilometer (18.7 miles) mass-start skate race, comprised of four 7.5 K laps winding through Theodore Wirth Park within sight of downtown Minneapolis.

When asked about the long distance involved, Brad described it as a “tough but fun race that demanded careful pacing and strategic tactics, like drafting off of other skiers.” He finished in 1 hour 17 minutes, which was good for a 14th place and 6th place among American skiers.

Bates finished his World Cup experience by racing in a 7.5 K classic race, finishing in 8th (world)/4th (U.S.) place. He got nipped for a podium spot by a skier just three years his junior.

He serves as an inspiration to the Dublin Nordic team that he so passionately coaches.

Asbury Family Moves into Former Church Parsonage
BY RAMONA BRANCH

The large, stately Georgian house, built in 1797 and located next door to the Dublin Community Church, has been the church parsonage for around 40 years. But if walls could talk, they would boast of being an historical and unifying structure in Dublin since 1772, when its older section was built as a tavern.

The tavern was built first on the current site of the church and was moved to its present location in 1852 to make room for the church building. The house, originally built as a private residence, has also been a hotel, a stage coach stop for post riders and coaches, Dublin’s first post office, the first Masonic Lodge in the region, and the town clerk’s office. The church has used the structure in various capacities for the last 40 years.

After serving the Town of Dublin and the church for all these years, this beautiful 245-year-old dwelling now returns to its original use as a private residence.

Kimberly and Wayne Asbury and their two teenage children, Madeleine, 13, and Benjamin, 16, are the home’s new residents. Kimberly and Wayne bought the home from the church last year. They had been renting a 1776 farmhouse in Greenfield, NH, for 10 years, but its owners decided to retire there, so it was time for the Asburys to seek a new home.

At a fortuitous meeting with Nancy Cayford at the Wellness Center, Kimberly learned about the parsonage being for sale. While the Asburys were not sure they were ready to buy property, after visiting the parsonage, learning about its historical significance, and seeing its great potential, the couple decided to buy the house.

Kimberly is an associate professor of art and design in the Department of Fine Arts at Saint Anselm College in Manchester. She teaches painting, drawing, illustration, printmaking, and mixed media. Wayne is a professional actor who works throughout the state of NH at theaters such as Theatre KAPOW, the Peterborough Players, and Threshold Stage in Kittery, ME. He is a teacher and Director of Theater at The Well School, which both their children attended.

Loving animals, the family uses the large back yard and barn for their sheep and chickens. Also in residence are two cats and two dogs.

Kimberly says, “We are excited about our new home and becoming a part of this unique town’s history. We look forward to getting involved in Dublin activities and being a part of the community. Living in the heart of town is a fun change and puts us in the center of things.”

Kitchen Matters, and Cooking

BY FELICITY POOL

A person can go to the Dublin Historical Society Museum and look at objects labeled ‘roaster’ and ‘toaster’ without recognizing either one. And what about the nearby ‘peel’? Up the hill at the Archives is Alice Earle’s 1898 Home Life in Colonial Days and an early 20th century booklet, Recipes Published by the Ladies’ Social Circle of Dublin, N.H. Between the two, you can figure out how the antique implements were used.

The roaster is tin with a hinged door and short legs, nothing like the patio unit a person might use today. For early Dublin settlers (late 18th and early 19th centuries) cooking was done in large fireplaces with, usually, an oven built into the chimney. The roaster was set near the flames and the back was opened for basting. To use the wrought-iron toaster, a cook would put the business end near the fire while standing as far back as the 16” handle would allow. To brown both sides of the bread, the basket at the end of the handle could be swiveled with one’s feet, hence the name ‘toe toaster.’

The peel had an even longer handle (the one at the Museum measures 47” overall). A kind of shovel, it was needed to keep a cook safely away from the heat while reaching to place food into the deep fireplace oven.

Avoiding burns wasn’t the only challenge faced by Dublin’s early cooks. Strength was needed for more than making toast. Mrs. Charles Gowing offers recipes for 100 pounds of ham and 72 pounds of pork. From Mrs. Daniel Jones and Mrs. Luke Tarbox come ways of making wine from many pounds of fruit combined with more pounds of sugar and juice, all eventually having to be lifted and carried to where the large jugs would be stored.

Mrs. Charles Leffingwell, presumably cooking for her boarders as well as her family, contributed recipes for chocolate cake, corn bread, and Spanish Cream. Each requires a great deal of egg beating, which would have taken a strong arm in the days before electric mixers.

A majority of the recipes are for desserts – puddings and cookies as well pies and cakes. Sweeteners were molasses and sugar, flavorings were citrus or spices (commonly ginger, cinnamon, and nutmeg). Sometimes Mrs. A. J. Moore does suggest a ‘moderate’ oven for her Graham Gems (egg, sugar, milk, cream tartar, soda, graham flour) and Mrs. O.H. H. Smith or for the lemon pies of Mrs. Charles Fiske and Mrs. Wilfred Fiske, a glass rolling pin might have been used, like the one on display at the Museum, manufactured in Keene around 1812 (see photo). Like most of the utensils and the recipes, the rolling pin was donated by a name familiar in town history: Mrs. Robert Sterling. Other donors and cooks include the C. F. Appletons, the H. D. Learneds, and members of the Korpi and Niemela clans.

Not all the things made in earlier times are necessary or seem desirable to a 21st century reader. For egg white ensures that “no blister can be raised.” To clean delicate worsted goods, she directs: “rub thoroughly in flour until the oven, then pound it fine and mix with

Japanese Tools & Woodworking
Local artisan offers classes.

Dublin woodworker Paul Tuller is offering two classes in March under the auspices of MAXT Makerspace. They will be held in Paul’s shop on Pierce Road in Dublin. The first, March 3 – 4, is a two-day introduction to Japanese woodworking, designed to provide students with an overview of working with Japanese hand tools and some hands-on practice. No tools or materials are required.

The sessions will cover the proper use and care of Japanese saws, chisels, and planes; sharpening with Japanese water stones; plane setup and tuning; and traditional layout. This class will be useful for those interested in moving on to one of Paul’s project-based classes.

On March 24, Paul is offering “Making a Box with Cover by Hand.” This workshop features an excellent beginner project in which students learn dimensioning, fitting, and joinery techniques as they build a covered box.

Paul has been working with Japanese hand-woodworking tools for 35 years to build traditional Japanese interior spaces and custom furniture. He is the co-founder of The Guild of NH Woodworkers and a past juried member of The League of NH Craftsmen.

To sign up for classes, visit MonadnockArxtTech.org/events.

Spring Hospice Volunteer Training
For those who are interested in a Hospice volunteer-training program, HCS for Hospice is offering one that begins on March 21 from 1:30 pm to 4:30 pm and continues Wednesday afternoons through May 2. Trainings are held in Keene at the HCS office (312 Marlboro St.).

Trained volunteers become members of the hospice care team, assisting patients with interests such as writing letters, reading, playing board games, scrap-booking. They may also accompany a patient to a community event or to visit friends. Volunteers also provide respite to family members. Hospice volunteers are especially needed during the day, and scheduling can be flexible.

The training program is free; class size is limited; pre-registration required. Contact Lorraine Bishop at 352-2253 or lbishop@HCservices.org.

Monadnock Match Cover Display
The Jaffrey Civic Center will host a Monadnock Match Cover Display in the first floor Display Case Gallery from through March 16. The display is a private collection of Jaffrey resident, Steve Weiner, who began the collection in 1994. Steve works with a committee in Jaffrey researching the possibility of establishing a Match Industry Museum in Jaffrey. The museum would trace the history of match manufacturing in the Monadnock Region. The display is free and open to the public.

The Jaffrey Civic Center is at 40 Main Street, Jaffrey, with parking in back. For information, call 603-532-6527, e-mail info@jaffreyciviccenter.com, or visit www.jaffreyciviccenter.com.

Monadnock Conservancy: A Natural Communities Workshop
Please join us in an introductory presentation on natural communities, which are “recurring assemblages of plants and associated animals found in particular physical environments.”

The free indoor presentation on Thursday, March 8, from 7 to 8:30 pm (snow date: March 22), will be led by Amy Lamb, ecological information specialist for the New Hampshire Natural Heritage Bureau (NHNHB), at Shieling Forest, off Old Street Road in Peterborough.

Come hear about the characteristics that distinguish different communities in our region, learn about threats to sustaining certain communities on the landscape, and find out what to consider when managing your own land. Later in the spring (date and location yet to be determined), you can go on a guided hike to practice identifying a few of our region’s natural communities.

This event is presented by Monadnock Conservancy and New Hampshire Natural Heritage Bureau.

Contact Rebecca DiGirolomo (Rebecca@MonadnockConservancy.org) or call 603-357-0600, ext. 104, for further details.

wrap it around the part affected. As it gets dry put on more, and in twenty-four hours the felon will be dead.”

Consider the ladies’ long skirts and long sleeves – cumbersome in even a modern kitchen – the open fires, the weight of the utensils, and the challenges of storing ingredients. How could one not feel at least a little admiration for those early cooks? Especially when they apparently produced angel and many other kinds of cake, as well as breads and custards, all creations with little room for error.

Raylynmor’s Madame Butterfly at the Players
BY RICK MACMILLAN

Giacomo Puccini’s Madame Butterfly is coming to the Peterborough Players theater March 9 and March 11, when Raylynmor Opera continues its series of innovative staging of opera classics. In this production, the audience witnesses the developing storyline of the tragedy as a backstage drama in the life of an opera company. This production, conceived by Raylynmor Artistic Director Ben Robinson, will be fully orchestrated and include his revised English libretto.

Alexandra Loutsion stars as Cio-Cio San, the Japanese geisha, entranced by an American Naval officer.

Kirk Dougherty, a first-time performer with Raylynmor, plays the role of Pinkerton, the American Naval Lieutenant who beguiles Cio-Cio San, only to leave her to pursue his American matrimonial dream.

Other cast members include Dublin’s Paul Simpson as Cio-Cio San’s young son. The Raylynmor Opera Chorus will also perform.

Preceding the March 9 and 11 performances Charles Doleac, president of the Japan-American Society, will present a talk on the Treaty of Portsmouth, ending the Russo-Japanese War. The talks will be held March 3 at the Dublin Public Library at 10 am, and at the Peterborough Public Library at 1 pm.

Tickets for Madame Butterfly are available at www.raylynmor.com and at the Toadstool Book Store.

RICK MACMILLAN is president of the Raylynmor Opera.

The Bohemian & Cedar Waxwings

BY TOM WARREN

Waxwings have crests and plumage from pinkish to dove-gray, a black mask, and yellow-tipped tail. The adult’s secondary wing feathers have bright red waxy tips. There are only three species in the world, two of which can be seen in the Monadnock Region. The rarest is the Bohemian Waxwing, which is larger than the Cedar Waxwing and has cinnamon under tail feathers and a gray breast. It is known for erratic winter movements and large flocks may appear in February and March.

Christmas bird census records in Winnipeg have shown as few as one bird in 1992 and as many as 4,724 in 1989. Its numbers have increased due to the ornamental plantings of fruit trees such as crabapples and mountain ash.

Both species can be found lying motionless on the ground under a crabapple tree after a storm. A faint heartbeat indicates an inebriated bird having eaten too much fermented fruit. They sometimes gorge themselves so much that they are unable to fly.

A 1974 Manitoba study documented Bohemian Waxwings that perished from flying into buildings after indulging in fermented fruit from a crabapple tree; the study showed that the birds had an alcohol content nearly 3% and a blood alcohol of 73 milligrams per 100 milliliters. For humans that would be above the limit for driving, let alone flying!

Waxwings of both species have the largest livers and the widest esophagus in the bird family owing to thousands of years of eating fermented fruit. Their intestines are twice as wide as other birds.

In the Monadnock Region, Cedar Waxwings nest late in August, when fruits and berries are available for their young. Their nests are made up of a cup of grasses, weeds, and plant fibers lined with fine grass and hair. Four to six eggs are the normal clutch which hatch in 13 days. Young fledge in about 15 days.

TOM WARREN is Dublin’s resident ornithologist.
